The Ministry of Health and Social Development has launched a video competition to promote diabetes awareness and prevention.

The “Beat Diabetes Before It Starts” Video Competition calls on students in grades two through six to create a 45–60 second video that highlights healthy lifestyle choices that can help prevent diabetes.

Public Health Officer, Ms. Renee Leonard said that the competition is designed to raise awareness among young people and families about the power of prevention.

Ms. Leonard said, “Diabetes is a growing health concern in our Territory, but the good news is that many risk factors can be reduced through lifestyle choices,” Ms. Leonard stated that by engaging our young people, we are helping them to take charge of their health and inspire their peers, families, and communities to make healthier decisions every day.

Students are encouraged to produce short, engaging videos that highlight:

- Fun ways to stay active from walking, dancing, and sports to everyday movement
- Eating healthy foods and reducing the intake of processed and junk foods
- Choosing water over sugary drinks to stay hydrated and energized.
- Why preventing diabetes matters for individuals, families, and the wider community.

Quick Tips to Beat Diabetes Before It Starts:

- Aim for at least 30 minutes of movement every day.
- Fill half your plate with fruits and vegetables at mealtime.
- Swap sodas and juices for water or fresh coconut water.
- Get enough sleep and manage stress, which also impact blood sugar levels.
- Visit your healthcare provider for regular checkups and screenings.
