Legislative Pillars of Progress:
*Building a Sustainable Nation

Introduction and Reflection

1. As Governor of these Virgin Islands, I am pleased to be here today to perform my constitutional responsibilities on behalf of His Majesty King Charles III in delivering the Speech from the Throne.
2. The Speech from the Throne is a tradition in the Commonwealth and Overseas Territories. It is written by the Government and delivered by the Head of State, or his or her Representative. The Speech from the Throne signals the opening of a new Session of the Legislature and previews the legislative agenda and major policies of the elected Government, as it seeks to achieve its objectives and responsibilities to the people during the upcoming Session of the House of Assembly.
3. Madam Speaker, the Second Session of this Fifth House of Assembly commenced on 7 January 2025 and continued until 31 December 2025. By all indications, it was a very productive session, as the House deliberated on some 25 Bills, 21 of which were passed and 18 of which have been assented to.
4. Legislations debated and passed during the last Session include the Asset Seizure and Forfeiture (Amendment) Act, the BVI Health Services Authority (Amendment) Act, 2024, amendments to the Customs Management and Duties Ordinance, 2010, the Commercial Recreational Vessels Licensing Act and refinements to the Cruising and Home Port Permit Act, 2021, the Tobacco Products Control (Amendment) Act, 2025 and Regulations, the BVI Business Companies and Limited Partnerships (Beneficial Ownership) (Amendment) Regulations, 2025, the Anti-Money Laundering (Amendment) Regulations, 2025, Immigration and Passport Act and Regulations, and many other measures.

5. In addition, Honourable Members debated on some 14 motions. Business attended to by the House included deliberations on the report of the Constitutional Review Commission and presentation of the Government of the Virgin Islands Self-Assessment Report on the Implementation of the Recommendations of the British Virgin Islands 2022 Commission of Inquiry Report.
6. Such a considerable volume of work reflects the commitment of the Legislature to its constitutional responsibilities and to the development and advancement of these Virgin Islands and its people.
7. Madam Speaker, persons would recall that in 2023, the government adopted the National Sustainable Development Plan (NSDP) as the development, fiscal and legislative blueprint for its strategy of building a sustainable nation. Successive Budget Addresses and Speeches from the Throne have been aligned with the NSDP's six Goals and 17 National Outcomes, demonstrating the government's commitment to the NSDP and maintaining continuity along the journey of sustainable development.
8. On this occasion, our format is no different. For this the Third Session of this Fifth House of Assembly – which opens today – the theme for this Speech from the Throne is "Legislative Pillars of Progress: Building a Sustainable Nation", which aligns with the theme of the 2026 Budget Address delivered by the Honourable Premier on 6 November 2025 entitled "Pillars of Progress: Building a Sustainable Nation". Likewise, the legislative agenda to be presented today outlines key Bills and proposed amendments to existing legislation that the Government will submit to the House of Assembly for consideration during the forthcoming Session. This agenda, together with additional priorities, is organised in alignment with the Goals and National Outcomes of the NSDP.

Economy

9. Let us begin with NSDP Goal 3 which focuses on the Economy, whose objective is a prosperous, vibrant, thriving and internationally competitive economy for the Virgin Islands.
10. Several items of legislation will be brought forward to advance economic development in a responsible and sustainable manner.
11. Madam Speaker, national outcome 4 for the economy calls for the Virgin Islands to achieve fiscal strength and sustainability. As such, the Government's proposed legislative agenda continues to focus on sound governance, clarity of institutional roles, and prudent public financial management.

12. Amendments to the Public Procurement Act, 2021, are anticipated to streamline project implementation and clarify requirements relating to good standing, while complementary amendments to the Public Finance Management Regulations will repeal procurement-related provisions and ensure a clear separation of responsibilities within the public financial management framework.
13. Further amendments to the Mutual Legal Assistance (Tax Matters) Act are also anticipated, with the aim of strengthening international cooperation and reinforcing the Territory's commitment to transparency and adherence to internationally accepted standards. These measures will continue to support the Virgin Islands' standing within the global community and its obligations to international partners.
14. Madam Speaker, one major legislative goal for 2026 is amending the Virgin Islands Deposit Insurance Act. The proposed changes include adding the Ministry of Finance to the Board, making clear the Corporation's ability to borrow money from the Government (with ministerial approval) specifically for deposit reimbursement or resolution, and setting formal rules for borrowing agreements and mandatory reporting to both the Minister and the House of Assembly. Additional amendments aim to reinforce the Deposit Insurance Fund with specified Government contributions, which should improve financial stability and boost depositor confidence while the fund is still in its early stages.
15. Consideration is also being given to the introduction of new pension legislation in 2026, possibly through a new Pension Act, with a view to addressing long-term sustainability, adequacy, and fiscal impact on the Government's pension scheme. Alongside this, the proposed Professional Accountants Bill will establish a regulatory framework for the accounting and auditing profession, contributing to the integrity, credibility, and continued development of the financial services sector.
16. Amendments to the Public Finance Management Act, 2004, and the Public Finance Management Regulations, 2005, will also be brought forward. These will further strengthen accountability, transparency, and the effective management of public resources. These reforms are intended to ensure that the public financial management framework remains robust, coherent, and capable of supporting good governance across Government.
17. Madam Speaker, taken together, these legislative measures demonstrate a measured and responsible approach to governance, grounded in respect for the rule of law, institutional integrity, and the long-term interests of the people of the Virgin Islands.

18. Madam Speaker, national outcome 5 of the Economy calls for the Government to create an enabling business environment that will support economic growth and stability. This is a high priority of the Government.
19. Amendments to the Virgin Islands Investment Act, 2021 will be advanced to strategically transfer authority for Business Licensing, Business Development and Fair Trade (Consumer Protection and Competition) from the Trade Commission to the Minister and Ministry responsible for Trade. The functions of Investment Promotion and Trade and Export will be transferred to an autonomous body led by a board reporting to the Minister. This transition will be accompanied by a comprehensive restructuring of the Trade Department to ensure efficient delivery of services. This approach will better align trade policies with the Government's broader economic development goals, ensuring a cohesive and strategic approach to fostering investment and economic growth in the Virgin Islands.
20. The Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises Policy will be expanded with the introduction of a Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprise (MSME) Act. This comprehensive legislation will address the unique needs of MSMEs and create an enabling environment in which these vital businesses can develop, grow, and thrive, and it will support them through various stages of their development, from inception to expansion and beyond.
21. Amendments to the Business Licensing Act, 2022 will be advanced to further streamline the licensing process to reduce bureaucratic hurdles and foster a more dynamic economic environment.
22. Amendments to the Consumer Protection Act 2020 will further enhance its effectiveness by strengthening the promotion of good business practices and ensuring that consumer protection remains a top priority in our evolving economic landscape, particularly with regards to pricing.
23. The Gaming and Betting Act will be amended to improve the Gaming and Betting Control Board's structure, update the licensing framework, and to address risks identified in the Mutual Evaluation Report. These changes will enhance Board governance and efficiency, establish a clearer licensing and supervision framework, improve compliance with financial regulations, boost revenue and investor confidence, and also maintain the Territory's reputation as a well-regulated jurisdiction.
24. Madam Speaker, in 2026, the Government will finalise the National Employment Policy (NEP) which aims, from a national level, to strengthen the Virgin Islands' rapidly evolving labour market, which demands that the local workforce—especially young people—be equipped with the skills needed to compete for current and emerging opportunities. The NEP will help to cultivate a highly skilled and adaptable local workforce while balancing the need to attract specialised foreign talent to support economic diversification. Virgin Islanders will be well equipped to establish a solid presence within the evolving labour market.

25. The Flexible Working Arrangements Bill is expected to be brought forward soon. The Bill, supported by policy, will outline the criteria and process for undertaking a flexible working arrangement. The implementation of this policy comes at a time where officers and employees continue to manoeuvre through their personal disaster recovery efforts and the challenges caused by pandemics and other events.
26. Madam Speaker, the financial services industry is constantly evolving, which also affects global standards for regulation, oversight, compliance, and collaboration. In 2026, the Financial Services Commission expects to present to the Government a recommendation for the enactment of a new Trust and Corporate Service Providers Bill to effectively decouple that regime from the current Banks and Trust Companies Act. Work has commenced in evaluating a standalone legislation on banking, with the plan of developing a new Banking Bill that takes account of the new and evolving developments in the banking sector; this will be complemented by a new Banking Code.
27. The Commission also proposes the enactment of a Credit Union Act which will create a licensing and supervisory regime for the two credit unions which currently operate in the Territory, strengthening compliance with international standards.
28. In the upcoming year, Madam Speaker, the Ministry of Environment, Natural Resources and Climate Change intends to undertake comprehensive legislative reform of the land management framework, including updates to the Registered Land Ordinance, the Non-Belonger Land Holding Policy, the Non-Belonger Land Holding Regulation Act, Land Surveyors Ordinance, and the Crown Lands Management Act. This reform will align land management laws with national priorities, streamline processes through computerisation, provide greater access to land for Virgin Islanders, safeguard local ownership rights, and support business growth, investor trust, and economic diversification.
29. Madam Speaker, national outcome 6 of the Economy goal calls the Virgin Islands to be a diversified economy with globally competitive industries.
30. The Government's commitment to strengthening the tourism pillar will be encased in the Tourism Development Bill that will establish a modern framework for the sustainable development, regulation and management of tourism in the Virgin Islands. This legislation will support tourism product development and diversification, enhance competitiveness of the visitor experience, extend visitor stays, boost connections with local businesses and industries, and improve quality assurance, licensing, and data collection for better policy making and destination development and management.

31. The amendment of the Cinematography Act will establish the Film Commission as a statutory or a semi-autonomous body responsible for promoting, regulating, and facilitating film and audio-visual production in the Virgin Islands. The Commission will serve as a one-stop coordination mechanism for film permits, location management, incentives, and stakeholder engagement, while ensuring alignment with environmental, cultural, and community standards. The legislation will support the development of the creative and digital economy by attracting international and regional productions, building local technical and creative capacity, and enabling skills transfer, employment, and small-business participation.
32. An amendment to the Environment Protection and Tourism Improvement Act seeks to designate the defined percentage of funds collected under the Act for tourism product development, to be allocated directly to the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Sustainable Development. The reform supports the establishment of a Product Development Unit in the Ministry and aims to ensure the predictability and strategic use of these funds, ensuring stronger alignment between revenue collection and tourism development priorities.
33. Madam Speaker, development of the BVI's maritime sector is an important part of the Government's diversification strategy. The ongoing BVI Maritime Law Review Project represents a comprehensive modernisation of the Territory's maritime law, delivering a revised, updated, and consolidated legislative framework. In 2025, the Government published, enacted, and brought into force twenty statutory instruments, clarifying and simplifying the legal landscape and updating the framework for the implementation of six Triple I Code Conventions. In 2026, the Government will introduce a new Merchant Shipping Bill and a new Marine Pollution Bill, together with attendant regulations, to further revise and domesticate our maritime legislation and to deliver a modern, streamlined, and competitive legal framework for the Virgin Islands.
34. Madam Speaker, as the Government develops the economic potential of agriculture and fisheries to diversify the economy, regulations are being developed to provide practical rules and procedures necessary to carry out the provisions of the Virgin Islands Food Security and Sustainability Act, 2022. With the consolidation of the Agriculture and Fisheries Regulations now being finalised, some necessary amendments to the Act are anticipated in the upcoming months.

35. The agriculture and fisheries sectors continue to play a key role in supporting livelihoods in the Virgin Islands. To support these vital sectors, a Virgin Islands Commercial Agriculture and Fisheries Grants Policy, entitled "From Land to Sea to Enterprise: Unlocking the Economic Potential of Agriculture and Fisheries" has just received Cabinet approval and will be launched within the coming weeks.
36. Madam Speaker, national outcome 7 for the economy calls for development of the green and blue economy.
37. In 2026, the Government of the Virgin Islands will seek an Order from the UK Parliament declaring the Virgin Islands Exclusive Economic Zone. The Order will be accompanied by local enabling legislation – the Exclusive Economic Zone Bill, 2026. Declaration of the Virgin Islands EEZ will enhance the Territory's capacity for blue economy diversification by granting exclusive rights to explore, exploit, and manage marine resources within approximately 200 nautical miles of its coastline. This initiative will also strengthen the Territory's ability to protect its marine ecosystems and fulfil its vision as a "Large Ocean Territory" with vast ocean resources.

Infrastructure

38. Let us now turn to NSDP Goal 4 which is focused on Infrastructure and emphasises resilience building and access to sustainable services.
39. Madam Speaker, resilience building and access to sustainable services are foundations for the NSDP goals on infrastructure. Legislation will be brought forward to advance the development and management of sustainable energy, communication technology, transportation and infrastructure.

As such, the Streetlighting Policy will be brought forward to enhance safety, improve energy efficiency and sustainability, and create more inviting environments at public spaces. The Electrical Distribution Expansion Policy aims to create a more resilient, sustainable and secure energy infrastructure while supporting economic development through growth in new neighbourhoods and improved access to electrical connections for homeowners.

National outcome 10 of Infrastructure focuses on communication technology and as such, amendments to the Telecommunications Regulatory Commission (TRC) Act, 2006 are expected in this Session to facilitate the implementation of 5G technology, enable satellite licensing, and modernise service regulation. 43. The Virgin Islands Development Agency (VIDA) Bill will be introduced to transition the Recovery and Development Agency (RDA) into a permanent structure. The Bill will help to further strengthen the agency's role in infrastructural development. The drafting instructions have already been submitted, and it is expected that the Bill will be tabled in the House before the end of the second quarter.
44. The Architects and Engineers Registration Bill, 2026 is being finalised with the Attorney General's Chambers and will establish a comprehensive framework for the registration, licensing, and regulation of all architects and engineers practising in the Territory. This legislation promotes professional integrity, public safety, and minimum qualification standards. It addresses infrastructural issues and protects building occupants, thereby improving the Territory's built environment.
45. Amendments to the Wickham's Cay Development Authority Act (Cap. 281) are also being finalised and will introduce a Board and a secretariat to oversee development, management, and operations in the city of Road Town. The amendments will improve the Authority's financial sustainability, enforcement powers, and historic preservation, including oversight of the 99-year Wickham's Cay leases, ensuring responsible urban development and protection of heritage and economic interests.

Among the legislative measures that will be pursued is the Public Health (Food Hygiene) Regulations (Amendment) which will revise and strengthen food safety standards, inspection powers, and compliance mechanisms across food establishments. This measure will reduce the incidence of food-borne illnesses and improve consumer protection, among other benefits.
49. Amendments will also be made to the Environmental Health Regulations to address the safe operation of barber shops, beauty salons, spas, funeral parlours, and other regulated premises. The reforms focus on infection control standards, occupational safety, and clearer regulatory authority to reduce the public exposure to environmental and occupational health risks. Also, amendments to the Port Health Regulations will strengthen public health controls at seaports and airports, including quarantine procedures, inspection authority, and response protocols for communicable diseases and environmental health risks.
50. Amendments are also planned to the Hospital Regulations, 2014 to ensure alignment with evolving models of care, patient safety standards, and operational realities within public health facilities. Amendments will support improved service quality, patient rights, and clinical governance.
